THE CHALLENGE

Before working with CJAZ, RadioWorks were reliant purely on in-house IT support, but their expanding business meant that their IT needs were growing too.

To accommodate their expansion, CJAZ was introduced by referral, for an initial IT audit followed by a strategic infrastructure proposal.

Working in the creative industry, the Radioworks team were using a combination of PCs and Macs.

They were looking for an experienced IT partner who could help increase efficiency and collaboration across their company.

They knew with a growing business that their IT needs would grow too, they were ready to call in expert help to show them the best strategic approach that would support their business.

THE PROJECT

CJAZ has been involved with several major IT projects; including improving Radioworks' IT infrastructure, liaising with their third party CRM and ERP providers and also successfully migrating the company to Office 365.

Using a combination of PC's and Macs, it is essential that all staff can collaborate effectively. To provide the best possible service, CJAZ includes a weekly on-site visit to ensure everything is running smoothly.
